BOTH OF RIVALS
AS PREDICTED.Neither Gray Nor Johnson
Made a Dent in His Tremendous Majority as Democratic Nominee for President of the United States.PANDEMONIUM REIGNED
AT DENVER EARLY TODAYConvention Clock Was Set Back so That Bryan Would Not Be Nominated on a
Friday—The Choice Was Made Unanimous.

Denver, Col., July 10.—After a long and wearisome session, the national Democratic convention this morning nominated William Jennings Bryan of Lincoln, Nebraska, for president of the United States, and at 3:42 o'clock the nomination was made unanimous on motion of Winfield S. Hammond of Minnesota. George Gray of Delaware and Governor Johnson of Minnesota received together only a trifle more than one hundred votes.

The first and only ballot stood as follows:

Bryan	892 1/2
Gray	69 1/2
Johnson	46

Eight of the delegates did not vote, among whom was Alton B. Parker of New York, once a candidate of the party for the presidency. Murphy, the famous Hall leader, voted for Bryan, and the chair ordered all of New York's 78 votes counted for the Nebraska. The unit vote of the Empire state was challenged.

"It was Pennsylvania's vote that accomplished the nomination. When the result was announced, Hammond of Minnesota, leaped to his feet and moved to make the nomination of Bryan unanimous. This was done amidst a noisy demonstration by the worn-out crowd. The convention then adjourned until one o'clock this afternoon for the nomination of a vice-presidential candidate.

Bryan was nominated on Thursday according to the convention rules, the hand of which were set back during the speaking so that the candidate would not be nominated on Friday. As a matter of fact, it was long into Friday when the result was accomplished.

The Candidates Named.

Had the nomination of candidates was where my night after a long in-lip of a quarrel for the committee on Well, Phunbury. It was finally the biggest man of the convention received for settling the nomination all over I suppose the report of all the credit to himself, standing. I was at his house the night he election, where a telegraph apparatus had been set up, and as soon as a return had come in to insure his election he grabbed me by the hand, exclaiming joyfully: "It's all due to you, my boy. If it hadn't been for your advice I'd have been defeated in every county."

Now, that's what I call honor where honor is due. The governor retained me in my position, for you must know that the position brings more problems than a campaign to get it. He doubled my salary, and there wasn't a man in the state that had a better position than I. Besides, I had lots of opportunities to make money through information I possessed, and I made it every time, though in this no judgment was required. I simply bought when I got the tip.

When Phunbury was sent to United States senate he took me to advice. He didn't have much use for me there, for he was obliged to as the party leader directed, so he made me a secretary in real as well as in name. This he declined to do, and, having secured a competency, I left him.

Phunbury died in the senate. After his death Crook, who had got me my position with him, showed me a letter of thanks the governor had sent him the day after his election to that office. In it he said:

"There is a right and a wrong decision on most questions. I judged from what you told me of his failures that your friend always decided wrong, so I took no step in the campaign without consulting him and doing the opposite from what he advised me to do. It is lucky I held to the rule, for I often agreed with him."

lacked the trust when Republican leaders were denying that any trusts existed. He advocated railroad regulation before the crusade against rebates and discrimination began.

"He has always been the friend of labor, and was among the first to urge conciliation between labor and capital. He began to oppose government by injunction more than a decade ago. He announced his opposition to imperialism before any other man of prominence had expressed himself on the subject, and without waiting to see whether it would be popular."

"When a Wall street panic burst upon us a few months ago he promptly proposed as a remedy the guarantee of bank deposits, and so popular has this plan become that it is to-day a national issue and supported by the masses of the people. He has long advocated legislation which will secure publicity as to campaign contributions."

"He believes in peace—in universal Christian peace. He believes the destiny of nations should be determined, not by wars, but by applying the principles of justice and humanity."

"Though these principles have met with uncompromising opposition from the special interests, he has remained true to the cause of the people. With clear vision and with unflinching trust, seeing and knowing the truth, he has never lost faith in his final victory."

"Through years of unparalleled political warfare, his loyalty to his ideals and to his fellowmen has been abundantly shown. His refusal to surrender his convictions, though subjected to abuses, denunciations and vindictive opposition such as few public men in all history have been compelled to withstand, is ample proof of his superb courage."

"His career proves that successful leadership is determined by the success or failure of great principles rather than by election to high office."

"We have met to plant the campaign and to commission the commander under whom the masses will enlist. We are not here in response to the voice of expediency; neither political bosses nor corporate masters sent us here. We are here at the summons of the rank and file of that political organization which is the special defender of the rights of the common people."

"We are here representing all that is best in the traditions of our party; we feel again the spirit that animated the democracy in the days of Jefferson and Jackson."

"The voters have spoken, and we assemble to give expression of their will. Their voice for the time calls Nebraska's favorite son to be the standard bearer of his party in this gigantic contest."

"Since time began no grander tribute was ever paid to any man by a free people. He is recognized to-day as the most representative citizen of this nation, the peer of any living man."

"Friends and foes have learned that he was shaped in that heroic mold in which the world's great patriots, statesmen and leaders have been cast."

"First nominated when only twenty years younger than any other man, a final candidate ever chosen by a free party; living in a state five or six hundred miles farther west than that of any president has ever lived, he has been known in the affections of the people for years have passed."

"Speaking and writing freely on all subjects, his heart has had no secrets and his friends have increased in numbers and in confidence."

"Without an organization to urge his cause, without a campaign fund to circulate literature in his behalf, without any other aid than the single vote of a predatory corporation to coerce employees into his support, without a subsidized newspaper to influence the public mind, he has won a signal victory for primaries and has become the free choice of the militant democracy of the 20th century."

"In one unbroken phalanx, existing from Massachusetts to California and from Michigan to the everglades, the members of the party have volunteered their services to make him the candidate; and they will not lay down their arms until they have made him the nation's chief executive."

"Nebraska's democracy, which saw in him, when a young man, the signs of promise, placed in nomination as the standard bearer of our party; the man who in the thrilling days of 90 and 1900 bore the battle-scarred banner of Democracy with fame as unsullied and as bold as the crusades of old."

"He presents his name before the people as the champion of the people, and among his citizens."

Preliminary

"So you are studying state and Italian?"

"Yes."

"Have you acquired a taste for Italian?"

"I haven't proper Confusion."

"Waggon out the name, Bryan, with great response was electric."

A Red the galleries sprang remarked one of the men to the other. "Can it be the painting of home?"

"No, I guess she's over the edge. The bride's small picture raised a love with the fellow."

thing in the hall. Six banners were missing from the procession, those of Maryland, Minnesota, New York, Georgia, Delaware and New Jersey. Many of the New York delegates, however, stood in their seats and cheered with the crowd. Hats, coats, collars and ties were stripped off in the frenzy, and thirty minutes after the noise started Chairman Clayton pounded with his gavel but to no avail. The band played, "We won't go home 'til morning." Fifteen minutes later Chairman Clayton again tried to stop the tumult and failed.

In order to stop the demonstration, messengers were sent through the hall, requesting quiet. The band was ordered to stop, and dim lights in various parts of the hall were turned out. All these agencies served to quiet the crowd, and an hour after the noise had started there was something like order restored. Then the nominating and seconding speeches were continued.

By this time the heat, dust and the dense clouds of flashlight powder used in photographing created a thirst which caused water to be in great demand. Small glasses of water were selling at two for 25 cents. The boys reaped a rich harvest.

The Small Noises.

The enthusiasm was small in comparison when Winfield S. Hammond nominated Governor John Johnson of Minnesota, but the North State set up a lusty shouting when Mr. Hammond got through. The noise was snuffed out in 24 minutes and Irving Handy of Delaware then took the rostrum and nominated Judge George Gray of his state. While he was speaking the platform committee made its delayed appearance, and the crowd got uneasy, the speaker being interrupted by such cries as "Hurrah for Bryan." Mr. Handy shouted, "Oh, shut up in the gallery"; but it was noticeable that he made haste to finish his remarks. There was some cheering at the end, but there was no effort at a demonstration.

The crowd was getting tired of the seconding speeches and constantly demanded that the vote be taken. Their demands finally prevailed, and the voting started. The roll call of states was inaugurated, and it was seen after the first half-dozen states had been called that Bryan would overwhelm all opponents on the first ballot. There was another great tumult when the result of the voting was announced.

After Mr. Hammond of Minnesota had moved that the nomination of Bryan be made unanimous and had been received with applause, P. P. Ford of Delaware stepped forward and seconded the motion on behalf of the Gray forces. The chairman recognized H. H. Eilers of Georgia, who added his second to the motion.

Chairman Clayton's voice was gone, but he had the reading clerk put the motion, and with one tremendous "yes," Bryan was nominated, and the chair declared it unanimous. There was one solitary "No" which came from the New York benches and represented the opposition of J. K. O'Connor of Utica, who forced the Tammany leader Murphy to go on record individually for Bryan, denouncing a poll of the state delegation during the roll call.

The Votes Against Bryan.

The following states were the only ones not casting solid votes for Bryan: Connecticut, Bryan 9, Johnson 5; Delaware, Gray 6; Georgia, Bryan 4, Johnson 2, Gray 20; Maine, Bryan 10, Johnson 1, not voting; Minnesota, Johnson 22; New Hampshire, Bryan 7, Johnson 1; New Jersey, Gray 24; Pennsylvania, Bryan 40 1/2, Johnson 3, Gray 9 1/2; Rhode Island, Bryan 5, Johnson 3.

The detailed vote of New York showed that six delegates voted for Johnson, but under the unit rule the entire 78 votes were cast for Bryan.

"The tired delegates went to their beds this morning for a brief rest before the reconvening of the convention, and during the forenoon the city presented a quiet appearance. During the forenoon there was talk for Governor Folk of Missouri for vice-president, he having intimated that he would not decline. Bryan apparently favored Folk.

Denver, July 10.—A few hours before the convention reconvened this afternoon the Democratic hosts had no more idea whom they will name for vice-president than before the convention began. If the leaders, those in touch with Bryan, know, they are keeping it to themselves. The candidate selected will be acceptable to Bryan and New York. The Empire state boss chooses to adopt a splinter-like attitude and let Bryan take the lead. Towne of New York, Ollie James of Kentucky, Folk of Missouri, Burton Harrison of New York, McNeil of Connecticut, Mitchell of Illinois, and Francis of Missouri each has a following, and the chosen one is believed to be among these.

The older Democratic statesmen from the South are advising against the selection of a Southerner for the same old suspicion—that the Southern states will go Democratic anyway, and that the candidate should come from a contested election. Despite this, James is the great favorite, with constantly increasing personal popularity.

NO MINORITY REPORT.

On The Platform Was Even Suggested in The Committee.

Denver, July 10.—For nearly 60 hours the committee on resolutions as a whole or in sub-committees, were in practically continuous session at work on the platform. Whole plans were referred back to a sub-committee for re-drafting and even after what was intended for a final draft was in the hands of the press, association changes were made in the phraseology. The document, as finally presented to the convention, was the unanimous expression of the committee and there was no suggestion of a minority report.

COURAGEOUS WORK
SAVED MANY LIVES

Young Leroy LeBaron, Formerly of Barre, The Hero of a Shipwreck on Lake Erie Recently.

An item under a recent date in the Cleveland Plain Dealer tells of a rescue of a party from drowning by a former Barre boy at Lorain, Ohio. The boy who rescued the party was Leroy LeBaron, the 12-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. LeBaron of Lorain, formerly of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. LeBaron in company with several other people were camping at Century park on Lake Erie, and the entire party with the exception of the boy went out in a sail boat for a trip on the lake.

The boy who was on the beach looked out on the lake at the boat and as he watched it was struck by a squall and overturned.

He secured a row boat which was a few yards away and although the sail boat was nearly a mile away, succeeded in reaching the party in time to save them. Mrs. LeBaron and the other ladies of the party were nearly exhausted when Leroy arrived with the boat.

LAST TIME
HE WILL RUN

Announced Bryan To-day
When Informed of Result

MADE BY THE DEMOCRATS

He Says He Appreciates the Honor, as It Came to Him from the People and Without Compulsion—Pleased With the Platform.

Lincoln, Neb., July 10.—When he received the announcement of his nomination this morning Bryan made the following statement: "The honor is the highest official possession in the world, and no one occupying it can afford to have his views on public questions diseased by personal ambition. Recognizing his responsibility to God and his obligation to his countrymen he should enter upon the discharge of his duties with a singleness of purpose. Believing that one can best do this when he is not planning for a second term I announce now, as I have on former occasions, that if elected I shall not be a candidate for re-election. This is a nomination as purely from the people as can be and my obligation will be as purely to the people. I appreciate it the more because it came not from one person or a few persons but from the rank and file acting freely and without compulsion."

After reading the platform as adopted by the national convention, Bryan said:

"I am very much pleased with the platform. It is clear, specific and strong, and I am grateful to the convention for the work it has done in stating the issues. I am sure the platform will greatly strengthen us in the fight upon which we are entering."

THE OUTLAW THIRD
IN THE 2-22 PACE

Barre Horse Driven by Sunderlin at Dover, N. H., Yesterday Afternoon, George Gano Taking First Money Easily.

Dover, N. H., July 10.—Excitement again prevailed at the second day's sports at Granite State park here. The program called for 2:22 pace and 2:25 trot, both for purses of $300. George Gano, Cox's $7,500 pacer, started in the pace and won easily, in three straight heats, and was driven by the owner. Another horse, registered as Friendless and driven by George Downer, which was in reality the famous bay mare, her Grace, kept close to Gano in every heat, and but for the mastery driving of Cox would have stood a good chance of winning.

In the 2:25 trot, Queneland, driven by H. Tyler, started off by taking the first two heats. Cox was scheduled to drive Mascali in this race, but the horse was drawn on account of lameness. James F., with Fred Isbel driving, came in second in both heats, and the opinion prevailed in the judges' stand that he was not driven to win. Isbel was therefore taken off and E. Sunderlin was substituted, and won the third, but after a deliberation of some length, the judges let up on Isbel and allowed him to finish the race. He was accidentally fouled in the fourth heat, which went to Queen of Melody, who captured both of the following heats, and the race.

The summary:

NEW GRANITE FIRM
STARTS IN BARRE

F. G. Carswell, F. C. Wetmore and Frank E. Gladding Have Filed Corporation Papers for Manufactory.

Papers were filed today incorporating a new granite company in Barre under the firm name of Carswell, Wetmore & company. The members of the new company are F. G. Carswell, F. C. Wetmore and Frank E. Gladding, all well known young men of this city, who have had experience in the granite business. The company has purchased the John L. Clark property on Batchelder's meadow and equipped the shed with modern machinery throughout, such as air compressor, motor, hoist, polishing machinery and pneumatic tools, and will start operations in the shed at once.

A NICE JOB FOR BARRE.

A $35,000 Soldiers' Monument to Be Erected in Indiana.

Barre granite has just won out in a spirited fight against Bedford, Indiana, limestone for the Indiana monument in the battlefield of Tippecanoe, in Indiana, the cost of the monument to be $25,000. The state of Indiana paying half and the United States government the other half. The monument will be cut in this city.

The monument will be thirty feet square at the base and will stand 90 feet high. At the base of the monument will stand a heroic-size statue of General William Henry Harrison, also in granite. The work is due to be finished by October, 1908. Excavation for the foundation has already been started having been let to Evans Bros., of Lafayette, Indiana. The contract is one of the best to be captured by Barre manufacturers recently; and the winning of the fight is particularly pleasing since McDowell & Sons were bidding against an Indiana stone.

MURCHIE IS BOOMED
FOR POWERS' PLACE

Gets Support of Republican Committee in Washington County, Me.

Bangor, Me., July 10.—At a meeting held yesterday the Washington county Republican committee decided unanimously to support George A. Murchie of Calais for the congressional nomination, to succeed Congressman Llewellyn Powers of Houlton.

The decision of Willis E. Powers of Foxcroft not to enter the contest, but to support Frank E. Guernsey of Dover, leaves but one candidate from each of these two counties against the three already announced in Penobscot county.

F. Marion Simpson and Col. F. H. Parkhurst, two of the most active aspirants for the office, have made no decision as to their position. It is thought that the latter will probably stay by his candidacy for the state Senate, and that the former will probably seek the nomination to Congress.

The district committee is to meet the 14th to decide on the date of the nominating convention. Nominations have to be filed not later than Aug. 10, which means a short and lively campaign.

SMASHED RECORDS

New York, July 10.—With every record of the smashed, the Cunarder Lusitania reached New York to-day, anchoring off Quarantine at 5:33. The time of her passage was 4 days, 19 hours and 36 minutes, or 31 minutes faster than the previous record. The best day's run was 643 knots, two knots better than the record. Her average speed per hour was 25.01 knots. She is now the only 25-knot boat on the seas.

MILK MAY GO UP A CENT.

Manchester Producers and Retailers Are Having Differences.

Manchester, N. H., July 10.—The Manchester Milk Producers' association, which includes members residing in this city and all of the adjoining towns, will hold a meeting at City Hall Saturday to further consider the milk situation.

The producers at a recent meeting voted to advance the price to 30 cents for an 8 1/2-quart can delivered at the door for the month of July, and since that time a fight has been on with the retailers, many of whom object to paying the sum demanded.

The retailers now believe that they will be forced to increase the price from 6 to 7 cents a quart, probably next week. Some of the Boston dealers have interviewed a number of the producers with a view of taking their supply.

YALE ATHLETICS.

Profits This Year Amounted to Only Six Hundred Dollars.

New Haven, Conn., July 10.—Athletics at Yale university paid during the year 1907-08, according to the annual reports of the various sports made by the financial union through the Yale Alumni Weekly, the profits being only $600, as compared with $15,000 made the previous year.

For the year in question the balance sheet shows a decreased profit, because the Harvard football game was played in Cambridge. The reserve fund now amounts to $115,429.

In which case there will be no other candidate presented there. WAS NOT LOCKOUT.

Part of Pulp Mill Workmen Are Still in the Milton Mill.

Milton, July 10.—The statement in the Milton paper regarding a lockout at the pulp mill here is declared incorrect. The present hour and wage contracts do not expire until August 1st, and trouble if any will come after that date. It is said that there has been no lockout, as part of the union workmen are still at work, and the partial shut-down is due to low water.

Among arrivals at the City hotel last evening and to-day are James Rafter, Springfield; George Carpenter, Winoski; L. S. Dowles, Boston; H. L. Ryan, Detroit, Mich.; H. J. Sullivan, Dorchester, Mass.; Edward Tröppel, Boston.
